Course Description:

Global History Regents Prep is a course specifically designed to help students receive a score of over 65% on the Global History and Geography Regents in January 2016 or June 2016. This is not a credit-bearing course and you will not be receiving a grade for it.

Course Elements:

To best prepare you for the Regents Examination in Global History and Geography, , you can expect each unit of study to include rigorous instruction, reading everyday, frequent testing, and debate. Students will take daily exams and will spend much of this course learning how to analyze historical information and use that knowledge to improve their writing. This is essential for preparing for the Regents Examination.

Mr. Lewis' Website:

Mr. Lewis' website will be updated often with review packets, videos, prep sites etc. Keep up to date by visiting <http://mrlewishistorybsa.weebly.com/> often.

Supplies Required:

Three-ring binder with pockets.

Loose-leaf paper.

Dividers

Pens or Pencils (have at least three with you each day).

Highlighters (have at least two with you each day)

A working professional E-Mail address

Classroom Rules:

1. Follow directions—both verbal and written—the first time given.
2. Be prepared with the proper materials.
3. Be on time, seated in your assigned seat when the bell rings.
4. Be respectful to yourself, others, and property.
5. Understand that you are responsible for your own choices. No one else is responsible for your choices, and that will be true for your entire life.

Regents Prep in Class Expectations:

To be developed and agreed upon as a class.

You will care more about your grade in this class and your success on the Regents Examination than I do.
